

Justice in the Sukkah

An Interfaith Exploration of Food and Social Change

...If you've heard the term 'food justice' but are not sure what it means
...if you're interested in the relationship between faith and food
...if you want to learn how to get involved in food issues in the Harlem community
...if you're curious about engaging these issues in an interfaith setting...

Sunday, October 16, 2011
6-8pm

Jewish Theological Seminary Sukkah, 3080 Broadway @ 122nd Street

Join us for a light dinner and discussion with community members from JTS, Union Theological Seminary, Mosque of Islamic Brotherhood, the Poverty Initiative, the Edible Churchyard, St Mary's Episcopal Church and other local groups.

RSVP by October 11 to shpassow@jtsa.edu

Suggested donation $10

This event is part of the White House Interfaith Campus Challenge, an initiative currently in development, that brings together students and community members from various NYC faith groups for education, dialogue, and community engagement. Student groups from Union Theological Seminary and the Jewish Theological Seminary, including the Inter Seminary Dialogue group, are helping to shape this new effort.