

Save the Date!
30th Annual Alumnae Seminar
Wednesday October 21, 2009

Hope in Anxious Times:
Exploring New Dimensions of Poverty in America

Join us as we take a hard look at the new reality of poverty in one of the wealthiest countries in the world. What does it mean to be poor in America today? Who is poor, and why? Do we really have viable solutions to poverty? Our panel of experts will address social, political, economic and psychological aspects of poverty today.

Onleilove Alston is a participant in the Poverty Scholars Program at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, an innovative program for grassroots activists working to build a movement to end poverty.

John Fox is the Visiting Professor on Complex Organizations at Mount Holyoke College and teaches a course on "Poverty in the U.S."

Shirley Johnson-Lans is Chair of the Economics Department at Vassar College and teaches a course on gender issues in education, earnings/employment, occupational segregation, and "protective" legislation.

Dannel P. Malloy, currently serving his fourth term as Mayor of Stamford, Connecticut, has significant experience with government programs intended to address and alleviate poverty.

Seminar details:

9:00 a.m. – 1:30 p.m., at The Italian Center in Stamford, Connecticut

Cost: $40 (includes lunch)

To register yourself (and your friends!), please send a check payable to "Alumnae Seminar" to:

Linda Reals
Alumnae Seminar
134 Lower Cross Road
Greenwich, CT 06831

Please include your name, address, email, college and guests' names.

Questions? Contact Linda at alumnaeseminar@gmail.com or 203.539.6339.